Group Organizes To Fight Boost In Assessments

Form Letter Prepared To Protest Action Of State Tax Commission; Lisanby Chairman

Counting the Revenue Department has over stepped its authority, about 325 Caldwell county citizens met last week to protest action of the department in raising 750 assessments after the Board of Supervisors had lowered figures set by the County Tax Commission, a chairman and a secretary-treasurer were elected to represent the protestants.

A committee composed of members of the Board of Supervisors, magistrates, an additional member from each magistrical district, a chairman and a secretary-treasurer was elected to represent the protestants. Gordon Lisanby was named chairman, and William E. Jones, secretary-treasurer. Other members are William G. Pickering, Robert McDowell, Jesse Blacklock, Robert Williamson, J. C. Vinson, Robert Kevill and Roy Traylor, supervisors; Elbert McCaslin, Earl Rowland, J. T. White, James Beese, Arthur Wigginton, Thomas Bond and Calvin Oates, magistrates, and Dr. B. L. Keeney, J. D. Asher, Clyde Clayton, R. E. Tandy, Dungan Ordway, Judge G. G. Harralson and Porter Taylor.

A form letter to H. Clyde Stover, chairman of the Kentucky Tax Commission, has been prepared for dissatisfied taxpayers to send to Mr. Reeves, protesting the recent increase in assessment. It states, in part, that the increase was arbitrarily made by the commission without holding a hearing, and that the arbitrary manner in increasing the assessment without appeal, notice or hearing constitutes a taking of property without due process of law and is therefore contrary to the Constitution of the United States of America and the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and unconstitutional.

The chairman, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Pickering, who served as chairman of the Board of Supervisors, were in Frankfort this week to see Mr. Reeves and report of the trip was made.

I would like to say that I certainly did not request or desire the assistance of the Revenue Department in making the 1948 assessment. If you will read your Kentucky Revised Statute, KRS 132-420, of the Kentucky law on the assessment of property taxes you will see (quote) "The county Tax Commissioner shall, subject to the direction, instruction and supervision of the Department of Revenue, make the assessment of all property in his or her county, prepare the property schedules and have such other powers and duties as may be imposed by law or the Department of Revenue" (Unquote). The law also says that the county Tax Commissioner, even (Please turn to Page six)

Patience A Vitre Here

That the rights of home folk have been violated through the reassessment effort here, as was stated at a mass meeting of citizens in the courthouse Wednesday afternoon, is, we believe, an erroneous assumption.

After all, the Fiscal Court fixes the tax rate.

The tax rate, not the assessment evaluation, is the yard-stick by which we will pay taxes here in the future, as it has been in the past.

The gentlemen of the Fiscal Court, named as members of a committee to represent the protestors, seem a little out of focus in this... since they themselves can, nay must, say the final word regarding what each property owner's tax bill is to be for 1948.

Much of the present agitation is, The Leader believes, due to lack of understanding of the whole tax picture here. If each property owner now joining, physically or in sentiment, in the protest against the recent action of Commissioner of Revenue Clyde Reeves could be handed his tax bill today, it is highly probable many of them, if not indeed almost all of them, would speedily realize they have been contributing to a tempest in a teapot... for it is very probable many will pay less than they did in 1947, and few will pay more.

Since the reassessment effort is a brand new thing, it is perfectly natural for many long-time taxpayers to look with distrust upon such an innovation; but this does not mean that any taxpayer has been, as yet, injured where it hurts the most... in his pocketbook.

Why not, good friends and neighbors, wait and see what your tax bills will be before you spend too much of your valuable time and some of your good money in fighting a progressive step which well may mean a great deal to the future of the community we all love so well?

State Homecoming Is Being Planned

Nineteen hundred fifty will be homecoming year in Kentucky, if plans favored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce are worked out. And it is not a bad idea—to invite all native Kentuckians who have gone into other states, and even into other countries, to return home sometime during the next year. Not all will find it feasible to come back for a visit, but spreading the invitation will encourage more native Kentuckians to plan months ahead, and to look forward with confidence that one more time at least they may pack their bags and spend a few days, or even a few hours, in the state from which they migrated to new homes.

Homecoming is one trip that most of us plan for some time. To set foot again on the old farm or in the old house in town where our parents lived is a dream to be gladly cherished. For the former farm boy there could be no realization of more worth than to stroll across the fields on the old home farm, to walk over to the old neighbor's farm by taking the short cut through the lane, or for the town-reared boy or girl to step around the block as many years ago, and to loiter in the park where many of life's choicest moments were spent, and to visit the village school where the letters were learned. This is only a small part of the period that comes back to us on the wings of memory when we begin to talk about homecoming, and homecoming will be finer for the preparation.

A homecoming is a pleasurable excursion back into the realms of childhood and youth and young manhood. For many of us there was a severance of the bonds that bound us to the old home, and we seldom see the old places and travel the old roads, and the years increase the distance and we continue indefinitely what we had hoped would be a visit with the older folks, until one by one they are gone, and as we realize we could have returned more often we are smitten with regret. And then some summer we read of a homecoming trip, that to us would be a pilgrimage, and at last we are on the way, to see the remaining relatives and close friends who would be as glad to see us as we are to see them, and the journey is begun.

Most of us have kinsmen who live in other states to whom a letter might be a starter, and many of them need only a starter and they would be at the homecoming—at family gatherings with basket dinners on the ground, and talkfests where reminiscences are in order, where "I knew him when" would be uttered many times over. Automobiles have provided ways and means of homecoming trips, and a thousand miles may be covered in a week or two and with time to dally along the way for side trips, to drive down the lane to the old spring and back in the hills, and beyond the river, and over into the next county from the site of the childhood home. But as there must come an end to other trips, homecoming cannot last beyond a reasonable limit, and the visit ends.

Kentucky On The March

Keck Praised For Courage

By Ewing Galloway

Highway Commissioner John A. Keck's get-going-or-get-out ultimatum to the two thousand road maintenance employees made new history in Kentucky's governmental affairs.

Rousing cheers from Mr. Keck for issuing the order and for Governor Clements for backing him up. Let's hope other State department heads will follow suit; also officials in other states. The slowdown of people on political payrolls is universal.

The other day I drove past a crew of six Kentucky maintenance men sitting on a roadside talking with their truck parked on the shoulder. I looked at my watch and it was 1:35 P. M. That is an example that might be multiplied many times. Recently I saw an eight-man crew on a highway contract job. Six were sitting down gossiping, two were putting with small tools. The wages of these men came indirectly from the taxpayers of Kentucky.

The same condition prevails in private work everywhere. During the war many were hired under the cost-plus rule and told to sit down. And since the war labor has been so scarce that if you fired a loafer he knew he could get a job next day, or he would start drawing unemployment pay. If you hired a drifter to mow your lawn, a two-hour job, he would make a day of it, knowing that if you fired him the work would not be done unless you did it yourself.

Some months ago one of the four largest motor car manufacturing concerns reported that manpower production in its factories was 32 percent below pre-war normal. If you have been around quite a bit you probably figure that 32 percent is a good average for the whole nation.

I am sure the slowdown in Kentucky has been that much. If you think I am wrong, make your own estimate.

I recall only one precedent of Mr. Keck's ultimatum. Back in the bottom of the depression Park Commissioner Robert Moses of New York City got several thousand WPA workers for civic improvement jobs. Thinking they could loaf all they pleased, many of the men started leaning on their shovels or sitting on their wheelbarrows. Moses blew his top.

"Go to work or be fired," was the commissioner's ultimatum. The loafers appealed to the mayor, who in turn took their beef to Washington. Moses stood pat and won. In the next five or six years New York got more new civic improvements than any other community ever got in a similar period of time.

Of course Keck's explosion is not meant as an indictment of everybody in the highway maintenance department. There are some laborers who are naturally industrious, willing to do honest work, but are slowed down by so-called fellow workers. There are some district and county engineers, bosses who may be doing all they can to get results but are unable to make their employees work when nobody in authority is looking. Bosses have kept undesirable help on their payrolls because they couldn't get better. Now laborers are not as scarce as they were a few months ago, and there are fewer excuses for employing loafers.

More power to Commissioner Keck, and Governor Clements, and may their example be followed by officials in all branches of State government. Let us all hope the Keck hot shot will move county judges and county road engineers to issue step-lively-or-else orders and mean it.

Pennyrite Postscripts

By G.M.P.

Ann Bennett Broadbent, pretty little blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Broadbent, of Cobb, visited in our neighborhood one afternoon recently... and quite captured the hearts of kids and adults alike. It's easy to see this lovely lady is going to be a heart-breaker a bit later on.

John Ed Young was negotiating the other night for a deep freeze unit... "to take care of my fish". John said he hadn't started fishing for the season as yet but allowed that when he does, there will be plenty of fish at his house.

Virgil Smith has some warm friends in Denver, Pennyrite learned recently. Mason K. Knuckles, a fine Kentucky gentleman, is general agent for Colorado of a large insurance company... and was Virgil's football coach at Hazard some years back. From what Mr. Knuckles told me, Virgil can get a right good job in Denver any time he wants to go back.

Recent castigation of highway maintenance crews over the State by Commissioner John Keck does not apply to the Caldwell county road gang, which has done a superlative job in this respect in recent years.

Many highly commendatory remarks were heard here following the recent visit of the Centre College Choir. This group of splendid young men and women did an excellent public relations job for Old Centre... and sang delightfully to a completely filled Central Presbyterian Church.

Turner Milam, one of Kentucky's best known and most popular gents, has just returned from a sojourn in Alabama to his native haunts at Lexington. Turner writes me "it is not only the ladies who can keep up with where their husbands have been by reading the ads on match folders. Kate gets around pretty well, as this same check tells me."

Papa Tom Simmons wore dark glasses a while last weekend—because he was a little slow in learning the hazards of parenthood. It seems Tom failed to duck when the new baby was swinging lustily with a hair-brush... and caught the brush in an eye.

There is growing demand at our house for water in the swimming pool out on the Eddyville Road... and a number of citizens have said to me that once the hospital is an actuality, the next thing the community should provide for its enjoyment is a recreational park, including a public swimming pool. With this we are in hearty accord.

Roy Rowland says he is definitely not going to take any golf lessons this season and I know Mark Cunningham, busy with his Rotary job, will be no better than as of yore, so Pennyrite looks forward with pleasure to renewal, with these gents, Saul and others, of the old 90 to 100 routine.

Contributed wisecracks: Reducing specialist had this sign in his shop: "If we can't take it off, we'll hide it for you"... A bad way to keep a husband or wife is worried... It amounts to a total loss when you spend all your money to prove that you have it... It's funny how often we're afraid the barber is making our hair look like his... The easiest thing to get and the hardest thing to get rid of is a bad reputation... Mothers and daughters have more trouble keeping their figures straight than the fellow working on his income tax report... Running the new look a close race is the old look when the new look passes by... Spending all your time chasing rainbows is a nice way to run into a storm.

People start pitching out of swank hotels windows and Frame, as what amateur sleuth wouldn't, starts in on manhunt that involves a lot of Sherlockian deductions and many empty Manhattan streets at midnight. Dairymen who are members of the Tri-County Artificial Breeding Association have been making good use of the services offered by the association since it started March 21.

Mr. McClanahan, inseminator for the association, reports most of the member dairymen have been very cooperative in having cows, fees and materials convenient when he calls at their farms.

For the benefit of some members who may have forgotten instructions for placing calls I am taking this opportunity to repeat some of the policies set forth by the association's board of directors.

No request for breeding of cows should be made on first heat period after calving. Place calls before 9 o'clock in the morning on the day service is expected. Leave the cow to be bred in a stanchion if available. If no stanchion is available leave a short rope or halter on the cow so that she may be caught easily. Have two to three gallons of water available at the barn and the breeding fee handy. Have information as to the age of the cow, the approximate date of last calving and the name of the cow if any.

If all members will observe the above requests it will help immensely to assure service for all members in need of it on any one day.

The association is open for new members who are in a radius of twenty miles of Princeton by road.

Blue mold has been reported in nearby counties to the south of us. Therefore growers should watch their beds very closely for signs of the disease or start treating with ferimate or dithane immediately. Apply twice a week and after every rain until setting is completed. Apply ferimate one-half pound to twenty-five gallons of water, using four to six gallons of this mixture on 100 square yards of bed. Dithane may be used at a slightly lower rate. Both of these materials may be purchased as ready mixed dusts. Remove the canyvas before applying either as a dust or spray.

EVER WATCH A PHARMACIST FILL A PRESCRIPTION?

Each drug the pharmacist uses was produced by a responsible pharmaceutical or chemical company in which he has implicit confidence. He knows that every medicinal substance on the shelves of his prescription room has been subjected to strict tests and analyses to insure its purity, quality, and strength. He would use no drug which hadn't been so tested.

Even with this knowledge, however, the pharmacist fills every prescription with a deep sense of personal responsibility. He checks and rechecks every ingredient he uses and every step in his compounding technique. He examines the contents of each bottle carefully as he takes it from the shelf. He looks at it critically, he may taste the stopper out and smell it, he may even taste a bit of it. He fills every prescription with the exacting care he would exercise if the medicine were for a member of his own family.

The drugs he uses are old friends to your pharmacist. He met them first in his early days at college and he has worked with them daily ever since. Their color, texture, odor, and taste are closely associated in his mind with their actions and their uses.

It is second nature for the pharmacist to check drugs by sight, by taste, and by smell. His knowledge and training are as much a part of the prescription he fills as are any of its ingredients. Reprinted from a copyrighted advertisement published by Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit 32, Michigan.

NEEDLE PIERCES HEAD—Patrick Durbin, 9 months old, rests on the lap of his mama, Mrs. Violet Durbin, at Denver, Colo., (May 3) after a surgeon removed a one and one-half inch needle from his scalp. Mrs. Durbin picked Patrick up off the floor, saw a long white thread sticking out of the base of his skull, and couldn't pull it out. The needle entered the scalp in a straight line but did not reach the brain. (AP Wirephoto)

THE GARDEN

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

The Vine Crops

It is time to plant cucumbers, squashes, cantaloupes and watermelons. Usually, hills are made by digging a slight hole, filling it with manure (to which should be added a small handful of 20 percent superphosphate), but the surrounding soil should be made fertile, too, as by the general fertilizing scheme described here several weeks ago. The hill should be an inch high to provide drainage and prevent soil from packing over the seed. Six to eight seeds are dropped and pushed in only to the first joint of the index finger.

Where greater amounts of these (except watermelons) are planted, the method is to lay off the rows, sowing high-grade complete fertilizer at one pound to 75 feet, dragging it in; then drilling in the seed, 4 inches apart, or dropping in hills and covering lightly with a hoe.

When the hill method is used, the spacing is as follows: cucumbers, rows 6 feet apart, hills 42 inches; bush squashes, 4 feet by 4 feet; running squashes and cantaloupes, 6 feet by 4 feet, and watermelons, 8 to 10 feet square. The final stand for cucumbers, running squashes and cantaloupes is 2 a hill, or 30 inches in drills. The final stand for watermelons is 8 to 10 feet square. The final stand for cucumbers, running squashes and cantaloupes is 2 a hill, or 30 inches in drills. The final stand for watermelons is 1 hill.

Good varieties are National Pickling and Straight-8 Slicer, or Long Green may be used to provide both; bush squash, White Scalloped; running squash, Golden Summer Straightneck and Cocozelle; cantaloupes, Hale's Best or Gold-lined Rocky Ford (Gem), or the Rocky Ford-Honey Dew Cross, Honey Rock; watermelon, Kleckley Sweet, Stone

Hot muffins and marmalade! Made of delicate pink rhubarb, the marmalade will be as much of a treat next winter as it will right now. Miss Florence Imlay, specialist in foods at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, says not to peel the rhubarb, but wash thoroughly before cutting it.

Rhubarb Marmalade

Three quarts rhubarb, one orange, six cups sugar and one small lemon.

Wash the rhubarb and cut into 1½ inch pieces. Squeeze the juice from the orange and lemon, and put rinds through a food chopper. Mix all ingredients and let stand a half hour. Bring slowly to a boil. Let simmer about 45 minutes, or until the marmalade

Veterans' News

Two major changes in leave policies affecting veterans training under the G. I. Bill in job-training establishments and in schools below the college level have been announced by the Veterans Administration.

The changes are:
1. Allowing these veterans to apply for 15 days' leave at the end of their period of enrollment, in addition to whatever leave they might have been authorized while in training.

2. Placing full responsibility for granting leaves of absence taken during training—within a limit of 30 days a year—upon schools below college level and job-training establishments. This responsibility does not extend to the 15 days given at the end of an enrollment period.

Leave at the completion of enrollment periods may be obtained only if the veteran has enough remaining entitlement time to cover the requested leave.

Under the new policy, leave taken during training now becomes a matter strictly between the veteran and his school or employer-trainer.

Only absences to be reported to Veterans Administration in future are those considered by the school or establishment to be unauthorized, as well as time off in excess of 30 days in a calendar year, exclusive of Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

These reports are necessary so that VA may make appropriate reductions in veterans' subsistence.

VA emphasizes that all schools—including colleges—are to continue to notify VA of all interruptions in training.

$1,306 An Acre For 4-H Leaf Champion

The new Kentucky 4-H Club tobacco production champion is Frank Homan of Washington county. He grew 4,664 pounds on two acres and sold his crop for $2,613.44. The variety grown was Kentucky 16 burley.

Red clover sod, previously manured and phosphated, was turned for the tobacco. Then 400 pounds of 6-8-6 commercial fertilizer were disked in.

All the tobacco was primed once and some of it twice, which helped increase the income from the two acres.

According to County Agent, Trill Young, this was Homan's 10th tobacco crop. He also has carried sheep, corn, dairying and strawberry projects.

Fescue Kills Sedge

Broom-sedge has gone down to defeat in a battle with Ky. 31 fescue on the Hieronymus farm in St. Helens community in Lee county, according to County Agent Hollis Henson. Sowed in the spring of 1946, the fescue was slow to get started and was not more than a quarter stand the first season, Henson said. In 1947 the field was saved for seed crop. Last year the fescue stand was almost perfect and broom-sedge had disappeared.

4-H's Grow Berries

Sixteen members of 4-H clubs in Clay county started commercial strawberry acreages this spring. Each received enough fertilizer to assure proper growth and will be supplied phosphate next winter. Plants and fertilizer were donated by the Sears and Roebuck Foundation. Eleven thousand plants were purchased from Eugene McKinney's patch, started in 1947.

HELD AFTER ROW—Pfc. Edward J. Touhey (above), husky U. S. military policeman, from Howard Beach, N. Y., is being held under observation following a battle in the plush Imperial Hotel, Vienna, Austria, with at least eight Russian officers. Provost Marshal Col. Wilford K. Liebel identified Touhey as the man who knocked down the eight officers and chased around the lobby with a chair. (AP Wirephoto)

New Way Found To Treat Wormy Pigs

No remedy has come even close to the effectiveness of sodium fluoride for destroying roundworms in pigs, writes Grady Sellards of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky.

Pigs are fed a mixture of one pound of sodium fluoride and 100 pounds of dry, ground feed. This gives them enough of the poison to kill worms. There is no starving of the pigs and no handling of them.

Sodium fluoride is a poison. Sellards warns that feed treated with it must be kept away from all animals other than hogs. Also, he cautions hogs not to give sodium fluoride in liquids of any kind.

Sellards said the sodium fluoride treatment does not do away with the need of sanitation in raising hogs. Sanitation is as important as ever, and pigs may become re-infested with worms if they are not raised in clean houses and lots.

A sanitation program such as advocated by Sellards, and a treatment or two of sodium fluoride in dry feed, will usually give the necessary protection against roundworms. The treatment is commonly given after weaning.

Nine Pigs A Litter

J. O. Bennett and Son of Custer, Breckinridge county, saved an average of nine pigs a litter from 10 registered cows. This record was due to the use of individual farrowing pens, electric lights in each pen, and guard rails to protect the pigs, they told County Agent Kenneth Brabant.

Pins For Corn Growers

Gold pins were given to 11 Russell county farmers who last year grew 100 bushels or more of corn an acre. Top yield in the acre section was 165 bushels, made by Monroe Robertson, and in five-acre division, 166 bushels an acre, made by Homer Mann. John Smith won the 4-H Club division, with a yield of 162-1/4 bushels.

For Cover-Croppers

Ninety-seven farmers in Calhoun county received honor roll certificates for putting all their tilled land in cover crops, in a program sponsored by the Farm Bureau. Rains beginning before all the corn was picked prevented many farmers from sowing cover crops, according to County Agent S. V. Foy. Farmers winning certificates for five straight years will be given a tour of the

AT THE LOW COST OF AN EXTENSION TELEPHONE

Do you know you can have an extension telephone in your home for only a few cents per day?

The cost is mighty small when you consider the many advantages an extension telephone provides for the home and family. It saves time and steps, affords privacy on the telephone, protection in an emergency. It makes your telephone more valuable by increasing its usefulness.

All you have to do is call the Telephone Business Office and say: "I'd like to have an extension telephone installed." Why not order yours today?

Orders for main telephone service are sometimes delayed because of shortages of central office and other equipment, which are not involved in the installation of extension telephones.

though elected by the people, is a State official as well as a county official.

A part of KRS 133-150 reads thus: (Quote) "The Kentucky Tax Commission shall equalize each year the assessment of the property among the counties. It shall compare the recapitulation of the County Tax Commission's books from each county with the records of sales of land in such county, or with such other information as may be obtained from any source, and shall determine the ratio of the assessment valuation to the fair cash value. The Kentucky Tax Commission shall have power to increase or decrease the aggregate assessed valuation of the property of any county, or taxing dis-

Farm Practices Total $74,543.27

Farmer Interest In Soil Conservation Is Great, Traylor Says
Caldwell county farmers proved they are greatly interested in soil conservation by carrying out practices totaling $74,543.27 in 1948, although the county was allotted only $29,662 for the year, W. S. Traylor, chairman of the Caldwell County Agricultural Conservation Association, said this week.

Farmers knew how much money had been allotted in the county before the practices were started, Mr. Traylor said. The allotment is based on practices and payment rates offered through the AAA program. Many other needed farm practices were voluntarily carried out which are not shown on AAA records, Mr. Traylor said. Records show 14,239 tons of lime were spread on 343 farms and reported through the AAA, he said. Approximately 2,000 tons of phosphate were used in 1948 on 767 farms on grasses and legumes. This is low, he said because of the scarcity of material. Potash was used on 71

Permanent pastured mixtures were seeded on about 600 farms, the new seeding of Kentucky Fescue and Ladino Clover being tried on 88, the chairman said.

Of approximately 1,500 farms listed in the AAA program, 1,008 earned payment either in cash or lime and phosphate materials, Mr. Traylor reported.

102 Calves Signed For Vaccination

May 14 Is Deadline
For Registration,
Mabry Says

Fifteen Caldwell county farmers have signed 102 calves to be vaccinated against Bang's disease, R. A. Mabry, county agent, announced Tuesday. This does not include farmers who may have registered in their own communities, he said.

Those who have signed are Randolph Brown, 25 calves; Jimmy Jones, 8, and Pepper Jones, 8, all of Princeton; Reginald Phelps, 7; J. P. Rust, 4; F. E. Jones, 8; Sarah Conway, 7, and Howard Story, 6, all of Fredonia; Jim Tyrie, 1, and Pat Tyrie, 1, both of Farmersville; John Morgan, 15, and Kenneth Wigginton, 3, both of Cider; Charles Hubbard, 2, Eddyville Road; Norman Cannon, 4, Cresswell, and Jim Neal, 3, Otter Pond.

The vaccination is being done free of charge under the sponsorship of the State Department of Agriculture, Mr. Mabry said. Calves between the ages of six and 12 months are eligible for vaccination, he said.

Farmers who wish to take advantage of this offer are requested to register with the county agent or with previously announced registrars in various communities by Saturday, May 14, Mr. Mabry said. Number of calves to be vaccinated are to be reported at registration, he added.

Burley Export Prospect Good, Dealers Advised

Louisville.—(AP)—The Burley Leaf Tobacco Dealers Association was told here recently that prospects are good for an increasing export trade in United States-grown tobacco.

J. Barnard Gibbs, one of four experts from Washington who spoke at the organization's annual meeting, predicted an upswing in the export of U. S. tobacco to Europe, from which he returned recently. He is chief of the tobacco and tropical products division of the Department of Agriculture.

Last year, he said, world tobacco trade was seven percent below the prewar average: in 1947 it was 16 percent below and in 1946 it was 11 percent below.

He added that it is reasonable to assume an increase such as followed World War I when the "soft currency" countries are able to get hold of some dollars.

George Van Dyne, of the tobacco and tropical division, told the association of an increased demand for U. S. tobacco in Latin America, where he recently visited 16 countries.

He said consumer preference there has shifted to the American-made type cigarette and, although duties are very high, Latin Americans are making money and spending it.

S. E. Wraether, assistant director of the tobacco section of the Department of Agriculture, discussed marketing problems in tobacco-growing states. He said legislation regulating marketing and grading of tobacco lies largely in the province of the states, rather than the federal government.

He said he believed burley tobacco was channeled through the markets too fast last year and added that the Department of Agriculture is seeking to formulate a policy on dates the markets will open.

Other speakers include George W. Thomas, chief of the ECA's food and agricultural division; W. F. Station, secretary-treasurer of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association; R. H. Proctor, executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation; John E. Brown, general agent of the Farm Credit Administration in Louisville; C. W. To Observe May 22 Rural Life Sunday

Rural Life Sunday, which is May 22, now is widely observed throughout Kentucky, according to the Department of Rural Sociology at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. It was first observed in 1929.

The college's suggestions about Rural Life Sunday says "county and city pastors may exchange pulpits for the day. Parishes consisting of several churches a circuit should make it a parish day for all services with a dinner on the ground. Community-wide union services are held in some counties. Local agricultural organizations of men, women and youth are often willing to attend and share in the services. A rural play of pageant may be substituted for discussion groups in the evening."

"A number of statements have been published during the last several days which have misled and alarmed the public concerning the hazard of using DDT as an insecticide . . . The Food and Drug Administration has not prohibited the use of DDT in spraying dairy cattle and barns . . . Suggests Ways
To Feed Trees

Fertilizing young trees in the spring is suggested by N. R. Elliott of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky. He says to cut a circle about each tree three feet across, remove the sod and weeds within the circle, loosen the soil two or three inches deep and then apply two pounds of commercial fertilizer or well-rotted manure. Keep the manure away from the trunk, and keep weeds down in the circle. He suggests this treatment for all trees set during the past four years.

Many old shade trees around homes in Kentucky are slowly starving to death, notes Prof. Elliott. This is due in part to raking up leaves and other humus material under the trees. If such trees are still in good condition, they often can be rejuvenated by feeding, he added. Persons interested in saving trees should see a county agent or a home demonstration agent or write to the college at Lexington.

Pushcart Wrecks Auto

Colorado Springs, Col.—(AP)—A pushcart made a 10-mile zip-trip down a mountain side to involve 27-year-old Leslie Kincaid in a strange traffic accident.

The cart, a light affair used by a railroad section gang high in the Rockies, took off on its solo spin from a spot on the other side of Manitou Springs.

The section hands jumped in a car and gave chase along a road paralleling the track on which the cart travelled. But before they caught up with it the cart buzzed through Manitou Springs and into the Western sector of this city, smacking squarely into the small coupe of Kincaid, as the driver attempted to make a grade-crossing.

Kincaid said he saw the cart coming but he underestimated its speed. His coupe took quite a beating. The cart, however, was undamaged.

California Leads In Big Leaguers

Atlanta, Ga.—The population of a state apparently has little or nothing to do with the amount of big-league baseball talent produced in that state.

Based on the 1940 census California was the fifth ranking state in population, but it ranks first in big league stars. Thirty-eight players were born in California.

Pennsylvania ranks second with 29 stars. Twenty-five stars were born in Illinois, making the Sucker State third ranker among producers of prime baseball beef.

New York has more people than any other state but it is fourth in baseball population with 19 stars. North Carolina and Texas each have 11 native sons in the majors.

Canada has three stars in the big leagues. Italy, Scotland and Czechoslovakia have one player each in the majors.

After graduation comes opportunity!

THE approach of Commencement Day 1949, brings many high school seniors face to face with a big question—what next? There's one big opportunity to which every high school graduate should give serious consideration. This is the career offered you in today's Regular Army.

Few openings in private enterprise offer you the leadership training, the educational advantages, the exciting travel and adventure, the supervised sports and recreation programs and the clean, wholesome, active life that can be yours with an Army enlistment.

Few openings offer you such comradeship with America's finest young men—for today—only the best are acceptable for service in the United States Army. To win a place in today's Regular Army you must pass physical examinations that are tougher—mental examinations more difficult—than ever before.

And with these more rigid requirements you will face more all-round competition for assignment to the more than 100 technical and specialty schools. The rewards are also greater—opportunity for advancement limited only by your ability and initiative. Many of today's general officers began their careers as Privates. Some of today's Army aviators began as privates. Privates may be our future generals.

Appointments to Officer's Candidate Schools and to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point are available to those who make the grade. In what other field can you aspire so high?

You owe it to yourself to get all the facts. See the friendly recruiting officer at your local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station today. He will be happy to give you full details without any obligation to you.

Boy Learns About Speech, Parents About America

Wichita, Kansas—“Hi!” Not a lengthy conversation—just a real achievement for the 10-year-old Australian boy who six months ago couldn’t speak—couldn’t even comprehend that the sounds people made around him had meaning.

And the cheery greeting young John Reid gives his clinic teacher in the morning is an assurance to his parents—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. (Jock) Reid of Brisbane—that their trip to America is paying dividends.

Nearly six years ago John was stricken by Encephalitis Lethargica. Brain damage resulted. An arm and a leg were affected by paralysis. When the Reids brought their family of three youngsters to Wichita and the Institute of Logopedics last September, John was a beehive of activity without direction or understanding. As the father puts it:

“Dr. Martin F. Palmer, director of the institute, told me the speech had so affected John’s brain that it could not discriminate in the constant rain of stimuli that reached it—sounds, light, heat and all the things that reach us, too—but which we can ignore if we choose. John reacted to all of them. He darted here and there—had no comprehension of space. One room was the same as any other. His reflexes drove him to constant movement, with no chance to comprehend the things about him.

“Today—six months later—we have a rested, relaxed child. He sleeps restfully. He tries to speak simple words. He shows speech recognition—obeys simple commands to sit still, close the window, and so on. He plays catch, plays with toys—each one chosen carefully to help in his development. The Institute had to reorganize John’s brain—to teach other parts to take over the work of the parts damaged. When John came to the Institute, he had about the same ability to focus attention as a two-month-old baby. His attention focus now is about that of a year-old child.

Their flying trip to the United States also opened a new world to the 36-year-old parents and to their other children. Mrs. Reid says:

“We like it very much. It really isn’t the country—it’s the people.”

“There’s a point that appeals to both the wife and me—and that’s the wonderful kindness of people here,” her husband put in. “I’m still trying to answer the letters we’ve received—and the gifts and candy and cards to John from all over.”

The father—former sports-writer and reporter for the Brisbane Daily Telegraph “down under”—puts in his daily stint at the Wichita Eagle. That’s the job that backed up the Reid’s application for a visa.

“Jock” Reid was hired by Marsh Murdoch, associate publisher of the Eagle—morning and evening daily—which thus is cooperating fully in obtaining the son speech training at the Institute of Logopedics.

Wichitans read with interest “Jock’s” bylined feature in the Eagle—usually giving the Australian slant on things observed here.

Blind Grapplers Hold Own Against Sighted Opponents

By Louis G. Panos
Baltimore—The athlete lengthened his stride as he neared the finish line of the cross country race. Rounding the final bend at top speed, he crashed into a tree, staggered to the ground and lay there.

“What’s the matter with that guy? Is he blind?” asked a spectator.

“Yes,” replied another, “he’s blind.”

This incident took place about nine years ago during the Maryland Scholastic Association’s annual meet. The runner, barely able to distinguish night from day without his spectacles, represented the Maryland School for the Blind. He suffered only minor injuries.

Since then the school has abandoned cross country competition and concentrated on wrestling—and is holding its own against all comers.

Take Gene Spurrier. Blind since birth, this 20-year-old performer is the cream of the current crop of wrestlers at the school. He won the 128-pound championship recently in a tournament sponsored by the Eastern Athletic Association for the Blind.

Over a four-year period he has placed second once and third three times in the Maryland scholastics—open to all high school wrestlers.

Spurrier says there isn’t a “whole lot of difference” between wrestling a blind opponent and wrestling one who can see.

“On my feet I’m mostly a counter-wrestler, so I don’t do too much until we hit the mat . . . But once I touch a guy’s shoulder, I can get a pretty good idea about what he’s up to.”

“A dip of that shoulder, the way he rolls his hips—they help tell you what he’s gonna do.”

The association of sightless athletes is in its third year and includes state schools in Kentucky, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and New York.

Among the privately endowed institutions are the Maryland school, Perkins of Watertown, Mass.; Connecticut School for the Blind at Hartford, Overbrook of Philadelphia and the New York (City) Institute for Education of the Blind.

Like the Maryland school, most of these now point for the annual blind meet instead of the open tournaments in their respective states. But they still take on sighted schools during the season.

At the moment, they’re warming up for the association’s track meet to be held in May at Hartford.

Events include high jump and broad jump—both from the standing position—dashes and the shot put. Spurrier has done four-feet, 7½ inches in the standing high jump. He stands only about nine inches taller.

Other athletes, guiding themselves along cables strung from the start to the finish line, have

No Shortcuts To Church

Barking, Essex, England—The Rev. W. F. P. Chadwick, 44, marries 500 couples a year in St. John’s Anglican Church.

Lately he’s been noticing some of the recent styles worn by brides and their bridesmaids.

So he has written in his parish magazine:

“Wedding dresses which begin below the shoulders, even when they are eked out by net, are not suitable to be worn in church.”

Tax Supervisors Named For City

Council Orders Purchase Of New Pumps At Hays' Spring

At Monday night's Council meeting Henry Butler, George Stephens and J. S. Ledford were named supervisors to review city assessments listed by Assessor W. E. Jones. They will meet and organize Thursday and may remain in session two weeks. The assessor will meet with the board of supervisors.

A petition bearing the names of six persons, principally occupants of the Henrietta Apartments, protesting the burning of trash in the alley between South Harrison and South Jefferson streets, was read and the matter referred to the police department. The petition alleged smoke and small pieces of paper, sometimes blazing, blow in windows and doors, creating a nuisance and a fire hazard.

Purchase of two pumps to replace out-moded and worn out pumps at Hays' Spring was authorized. The purchase will entail an expenditure approximating $3,000, and will take 90 days for delivery.

A proposal to renew a franchise for electric service with the Kentucky Utilities was presented by R. S. Gregory, local manager of the K. U.

Four councilmen, Jake, Jenkins, Stone and Wadlington, attended the session, with Mayor Cash presiding.

Cancer Campaign Quota Topped

The cancer drive, with some reports still to be turned in, has gone over the top, Mrs. F. K. Wylie, chairman, reported Wednesday morning.

At that time about $1,054 had been contributed, she said. The goal was $1,000.

Complete returns from the campaign should be available next week, Mrs. Wylie said.

Regulars Defeat Calvert City, 10-3

Princeton Regulars, behind the three-hit pitching of Jim Pickens, out-slugged Calvert City Sunday afternoon, 10-3, to chalk up a win in their first game in Twin-States League play. The opener was played at Calvert City. Pickens had 20 strike-outs.

The first six innings was a pitchers' duel between Pickens and Powell Smith, but in the seventh the Regulars took a 5-2 lead, then scored five times in the ninth. Calvert City's third run was unearned.

Gene Sisk was leading hitter, his bat accounting for three of Princeton's nine hits. One of blows was a triple in the big ninth inning with two men on.

The first home game of the Regulars will be 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon Smithland, defending champion of the Eastern division of Twin-States League, invades VFW park. Pitcher Pickens will be opposed by left-hander, Tiger Hines.

Smithland is favored to land on top the division again this year.
